Abstract of Proposed Collection

The Secretary of State is authorized to issue U.S. passports under 22 U.S.C. 211a. The Department of State, Passport Services Directorate in the Bureau of Consular Affairs administers the U.S. passport issuance program and operates passport agencies and application adjudication centers throughout the United States. As part of the Intelligence Reform and Terrorism Prevention Act of 2004, the Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative required the Secretary of Homeland Security and the Secretary of State to implement a plan to require all U.S. citizen and non-citizen nationals to present a passport and/or other sufficient documentation when entering the U.S. from abroad. This resulted in an increase in demand for U.S. passports.

The Passport Demand Forecasting Survey requests information from the general public about the demand for U.S. passports, anticipated travel, and the demographic profile of the respondent. This voluntary survey is conducted on a monthly basis using responses from a randomly selected but nationally representative sample of the U.S. population, ages 18 and older. The information obtained from the survey is used to monitor and project the demand for U.S. passport books and U.S. passport cards. The Passport Demand Forecasting Survey aids Passport Services in making decisions about staffing, resource allocation, and budget planning.

Methodology

The Passport Demand Forecasting Survey uses monthly surveys that will gather data from a national representative sample of the U.S. population. Survey delivery methodologies can include mail, internet/web, telephone, and mixed-mode surveys to ensure that Passport Services reaches the appropriate audience and leverages the best research method to obtain valid responses. The survey data will cover an estimated 24,000 respondents annually.

Acting Deputy Assistant Secretary, Passport Services, Department of State.

Abstract of Proposed Collection

Forms in this collection are completed by panel physicians to record the medical information of aliens seeking entry to the United States, including visa applicants; refugees; follow-to-join refugees and asylees; and certain parolees. The forms request medical information necessary to determine whether an alien has a medical or other condition affecting his or her eligibility for a visa or immigration benefit. The information requested includes the result of any tests required for the diagnosis of diseases identified as communicable diseases of public health significance, as well as other evaluations identified as necessary to confirm a medical ineligibility under INA § 212(a)(1), 8 U.S.C. 1182(a)(1) or to comply with other requirements, such as those relating to a public charge ineligibility under INA § 212(a)(4). Collecting this information is essential to protecting U.S. public health interests and ensuring immigrants are not likely to become public charge after admission.

Methodology

A panel physician designated by the consular post performs a medical examination of the applicant and completes the forms according to instructions issued by the Centers for Disease Control (CDC). Panel physicians submit the DS–7794 electronically. When a medical case cannot be electronically completed with the DS–7794, respondents must submit the DS–2054, DS–3025, DS–3026, and DS–3030 as a packet to the appropriate embassy or consulate through secure email, courier service, or by providing the completed forms to the applicant in a sealed envelope. The information collected is retained by the Bureau of Consular Affairs. It is also provided to the CDC, the Department of Homeland Security, and any other U.S. government agencies with statutory or lawful authority to use such information, including for law enforcement and immigration enforcement purposes.

Morvared Namdarkhan,

Assistant Secretary, Bureau of Consular Affairs, Department of State.
